
Seeking Testimonies about Drinking Tea

Posted by Giorgia Luec - 2008/07/14 16:51

My father and I were discussing the pleasures of drinking coffee and tea. I of course enjoy tea the best. But we disagreed. So being competitive in nature, we decided to have a contest between each other to see how many testimonies we could get from others. The one with the best testimonies has to give the other a gift set of teas or coffees. I would like to win. Can anyone give me a testimony (2-3 sentences would be great) about the pleasures of drinking tea? Please.

=====

Re:Seeking Testimonies about Drinking Tea

Posted by Fiona Brice - 2008/07/15 12:12

I guess I'm on your side as I drink four or five mugs of black tea with milk and sugar, every day. And I can't function without it in the morning. :blink:

=====

Re:Seeking Testimonies about Drinking Tea

Posted by Wendy Porter - 2008/07/15 12:24

White tea and infusions!

=====

Re:Seeking Testimonies about Drinking Tea

Posted by Frieda Helmke - 2008/07/15 15:52

When I drink tea, I can clearly see all the flowers, trees and bees in front of me. Tea helps me hear the birds sing and the church bells ring.:blush:

=====

Re:Seeking Testimonies about Drinking Tea

Posted by Haley Boone - 2008/07/16 14:15

How about: Teas bring health, wealth and stealth to life.

=====

Re:Seeking Testimonies about Drinking Tea

Posted by Lucy Bell - 2008/07/23 19:37

Why not use William Gladstone's quote... "Thank God for tea! What would the world do without tea! How did it exist? I am glad I was not born before tea."

=====

Re:Seeking Testimonies about Drinking Tea

Posted by Jennifer Monroe - 2008/07/25 17:50

Unlike coffee, the pleasures of drinking tea are as great as the health benefits. Tea has claimed to be a remedy for poor circulation, improving blood sugar and an excellent antioxidant.

=====